

ReAwaken America Tour Impacts History, Transforms Present

What began as an event called the Health and Freedom conference, billed as the Reopen America tour, in April 2021 in Tulsa, Oklahoma, has grown to be a monthly event. The success of the first conference, intended to be a one-off, led to a second conference in May 2021 held at The River Church in Tampa, Florida, pastored by Rodney Howard-Browne. It quickly sold out as 8,000-plus conference-goers from across the country packed the huge outdoor tent. With this, Clay Clark's brainchild was restructured to be a monthly event to be held in different states all around the country under the name Clay Clark's ReAwaken America tours featuring Gen. Michael Flynn. Its impact in both natural and spiritual worlds has grown far beyond the founder's original intent while remaining aligned with God's purposes and plans.

Since April 2021, one event has been held per month, each selling out with an average attendance of 3,000. Clearly the focus of the tour—to kill the spirit of fear, expose the truth about medical fraud, expose election fraud and the great global reset while promoting Jesus is King and not done with America yet—resonates with a great number of Americans. In fact, the ReAwaken America Tour is said by some to be a freedom movement sweeping across the U.S.

Clark is a business consultant, the founder of several multimillion-dollar businesses and a former Oklahoma "Small Business Administration Young Entrepreneur of the Year." With the government management of COVID-19 in early 2020, his clients came to him for direction on how to survive during lockdowns and more that could shut down our country. He immediately researched solutions to the virus and learned:

1. The claim that 2.2 million Americans were projected to die from this COVID-19 virus was a campaign funded by Bill Gates and Amazon.

2. PCR tests are falsely calibrated to inflate the number of positive COVID-19 cases
3. COVID-19 is 100% treatable with budesonide, ivermectin and hydroxychloroquine.
4. Dr. Anthony Fauci, chief medical advisor to President Joe Biden, funded the Wuhan lab that created the gain-of-function research that created the virus, using U.S. taxpayer dollars.

Clark reassured his clients there was no cause for panic. Treatment was available, and he believed the truth would soon be revealed. However, as the management of COVID morphed into government and medical tyranny, he realized he had to do something for his clients at the very least. Having already met Flynn, Clark contacted him to ask if he would be part of the then-named Reopen America tour with him. Flynn's immediate "yes" was followed by "But it has to go through the church because the church is key to fighting back Satan."

Neither man realized at the time that they were actually stepping into part of God's plans for their lives. South-African born Kim Clement prophesied on April 4, 2007, "Trump shall become a trumpet, says the Lord ... I will raise up the Trump to become a trumpet," and "There is a man by the name of Mr. Clark; there is also another man by the name of Donald. You are both watching and thinking Could it be that God is speaking to me? Yes, He is."

Clark received a copy of Clement's prophecy, with colleagues encouraging him to recognize God's call on his life. Slowly, Clark realized his unique professional and life experiences had equipped him to step into the role before him. He recently interviewed Kim Clement's daughter, Donne Clement Petruska, on his Thrivetime Show podcast to discuss this Kim Clement prophecy featuring "Mr. Clark."

Neither could Flynn or Clark know the great cost they would pay for heading up such an endeavor. Clark's model for the conference is that attendees can name their own ticket price, which is entirely inconsistent with proven business practices that calculate the total costs to determine the ticket price. Clark has openly and repeatedly announced on his podcasts and in most interviews that any profit made from the conference would be invested back in the tour for future tour stops, making clear he does not personally profit from the tour.

However, on Dec. 22, 2021, Dominion Voting Systems Security Chief Eric Coomer filed a suit for defamation against Clay Clark in the U.S. District Court of the District of Colorado claiming Clark, Thrive Time and the Reawaken America Tour engaged in "a relentless defamation campaign" against Coomer. The Dominion suit alleges defendants, including Clark-founded entities and Clark himself, monetized a false election fraud narrative to defraud the American people. Clark denies the allegations and the litigation remains pending.

In a recent interview of Clark with Mel K, published Jan. 4, 2022, Mel K, in speaking of the Coomer litigation, brought up the topic of "lawfare," is a term popularized by Gen. Charles Dunlap to describe the use of law as a weapon of war. Lawfare refers to the misuse of legal systems and principles against an enemy, such as by damaging or delegitimizing them, wasting their time and money or winning a public relations victory. While the judicial system will have to decide the merits of the case, it remains to be seen what the court of public opinion will determine. Clay Clark is now in a unique position to also help expose the truth about lawfare in our country.

One way for the public to determine truth is to attend the ReAwaken America tour stops, listen to what the speakers present and personally research the issues. With the rampant evidence of media censorship, the ongoing election audits and more, it seems to be more important than ever for Americans to do all that is necessary to demand truth and accountability wherever needed. This, according to Clark, is exactly what the ReAwaken America Tour is all about.

The upcoming tour stops are Jan. 14-15, 2022, in Phoenix, Arizona, and Feb. 18-19, 2022, in Canton, Ohio. Clark is regularly contacted by high-powered individuals seeking to join the tour and present. One of the more recent additions is Donne Clement Petruska, daughter of the late great prophet Kim Clement, scheduled to speak in January. Charisma Media founder and CEO Stephen Strang, who has spoken for the tour in several cities, will present as a featured speaker at the Phoenix stop, sharing truths gained in research for his most recent book, God and Cancel Culture.
