

Rick Wiles: The US Wants To Lead the New World Order

When the Secretary of Defense told reporters Russia threatens global order, what he meant was Russia is threatening the new world order, says TruNews' Rick Wiles.

"We do not seek to make Russia an enemy. But make no mistake; the United States will defend our interests, our allies, the principled international order, and the positive future it affords us all," Ash Carter told the Military Times.

The United States is in charge of the new world order, Wiles says. The United Nations announced its "Agenda 2030" to the tune of the Global Citizens Festival in the heart of New York earlier this year.

Yet Russia appears to be flexing its political muscles, threatening the America's world-order power, Wiles says.

But America hovers in a precarious position politically and spiritually as its residents turn away from God, pastor Jim Bakker says.

"The spirit of rebellion is the spirit of witchcraft. You know why you don't want to say it? Because so many people in the church are in rebellion. Gossiping, gossiping, gossiping," Bakker says.

And it all falls into place with end-time prophecies and modern powers. Watch the video to see how.
