

'Save Saeed' Movement Impacts World Cup

The FIFA World Cup is the biggest sporting event in the world. It happens every four years, and it is the most-watched event in the world by all countries. The 2014 World Cup is happening in Brazil, and it is has been called The World Cup of all the World Cups.

The Brazilian Center for Law & Justice (CBLJ) continues to spread the #SaveSaeed campaign and has had an incredible opportunity to raise awareness of Pastor Saeed's plight on the large world stage. I, along with a group of volunteers, went to Brasília during the World Cup games and gave out 20,000 Save Saeed flyers to people from all over the world who attended the games.

Here are a few pictures of our time at the World Cup. Wearing the yellow Save Saeed shirts gave us the opportunity to catch people's attention, pass out flyers, and raise Pastor Saeed's plight with people who never heard about him before.

(In this picture we are on TV on the right upper corner, the four people with the yellow save Saeed shirts.)

Until Pastor Saeed is free and home with his family, we will continue calling for his release and raising his plight across the globe.
