

‘Singing Contractors’ Will Make You Sob With This Rendition of ‘How Great Thou Art’

Hymns and spiritual songs reverberate through the under-construction basement.

The singing contractors are giving the glory to God after they finish up a hard day’s work.

Now, their a cappella “How Great Thou Art” is taking the Internet by storm.

“We’ve actually shed a few tears because we don’t feel like that we’re worthy of this at all,” Aaron Gray said.

But their voices are nothing short of glorious. Take a look!