

SNL Mocks 'God's Not Dead 2' With Blasphemous 'Gay' Skit

In a recent sketch, Saturday Night Live tackled a parody of God's Not Dead, demanding the baker say, "God is gay" in a clip titled "God Is a Boob Man."

The sketch features a baker who is faced with a lawsuit after refusing to bake a cake for a gay couple, much like the real-life battles of Aaron and Melissa Klein.

In the sketch, the baker must defend why God is straight, with several descriptions of God's sexual desires.

While secular sources declare the clip "hilarious," while others recognized the Christian mockery.
