

Teen Magazine Brazenly Promotes Abortion and Prostitution to Young Women

Rather than writing headlines, Teen Vogue magazine is making them.

First, points out national radio host Dr. Michael Brown, author of the soon-to-be-released book, Jezebel's War with America: The Plot to Destroy Our Country and What We Can Do to Turn the Tide, the magazine geared toward girls, teens and young women published an article titled, "Why Sex Work Is Real Work," comparing "selling your body for cash to the practice of medicine—just another profession, just another choice," according to USA Today.

Then, a June Teen Vogue response to a letter in an advice column about "How to Get an Abortion If You're a Teen" included these words: "(I)t's only logical that if teens are mature enough to become parents, they are mature enough to decide whether or not they want to give birth. Having access to abortion should be your right, regardless of your parents' beliefs." The writer even went on to "talk logistics."
