

The Answers to Some of Your Most Asked Questions

My name is Rusty—not to be confused with the adjective. (No, I do not have red hair.)

As the pastor of Real Life Church in Southern California, I am thrilled to connect with and serve you.

I like to make life as simple as possible for others.

If you are overwhelmed with life—trying to keep up with kids, keep tabs on aging parents, make your boss happy, your spouse happy and yourself happy—I’ve been there ... and I want to help.

I discuss some of these topics in this episode of my show Leading Simple, titled 7 Things to Help You Execute Your Goals.

Maybe you’re overwhelmed by trying to do good—leading people, serving people, following Jesus. Why is trying to be good so exhausting sometimes? I’ve wondered that too.

I also discuss this in these podcast episodes: Discovering a Life without Lack and Leadership, Fatherhood, and Life Lessons I Learned This Year.

I have this saying on my podcast: “Following Jesus isn’t always easy, but it’s not complicated.”

And that’s the goal of the Leading Simple podcast. We offer hope for the overwhelmed by simplifying faith and inspiring leaders.

So, how can I help you?
