

The Far Left Is Planning the Biggest Political Protest in United States History for Inauguration Day

We have seen very large protests in major cities all over America since Donald Trump won the election, but the biggest one of all is being planned for Jan. 20.

Radical leftists are calling for thousands upon thousands of activists to descend upon Washington, D.C., on Inauguration Day, and they are planning to disrupt the inauguration festivities as much as they possibly can. And if you doubt that the #NotMyPresident movement can pull this off, you may want to consider that 25,000 protesters showed up in New York City on Saturday on very short notice. These people are bitter, angry, frustrated and incredibly motivated. At this point they still have more than two months to organize their forces, and many are expecting that this is going to be the most chaotic Inauguration Day in American history.

One of the Facebook pages that is attempting to recruit protesters for Inauguration Day is entitled "Protest at the Inauguration: Stand Against Trump, War, Racism and Inequality." So far, 7,800 people have indicated that they will be attending on this page alone, and another 26,000 have expressed interest in the protest. The organizers of this particular page are very clear about why they believe that the inauguration of Donald Trump must be protested.

Donald Trump is a racist, sexist bigot. We believe that tens of thousands of progressive people will be in the streets on Inauguration Day and in the weeks and months afterward.

How one voted on election day is one thing, but even more important is whether we succeed in building a mass movement that can truly change the country, and the world.

Waiting for the same politicians who led to the rise of Trump to now stop him is a lost cause.

On Facebook and Twitter, the hashtag #DisruptJ20 is already generating an immense amount of buzz. This movement appears to be very well-funded, and they have already produced some very slick videos promoting the upcoming inauguration protest.

#DisruptJ20 even has an official website now, and they are openly calling for a national strike on Jan. 20 in addition to the chaos that they plan to cause in Washington.

On Jan. 20, the day of the Presidential Inauguration, protesters will rally to interrupt Trump's coronation. You can help organize, and you can attend the march. You can also heed calls to strike, wherever you are in the country.

On January 21st, millions of women will converge on Washington DC specifically to oppose the Trump administration's promised attack on women's rights and freedoms. Join them.

And on the #DisruptJ20 Facebook page, the organizers are open about the fact that they plan to bitterly fight against Donald Trump every step of the way.

On Friday, January 20, 2017, Donald Trump will be inaugurated as President of the United States. We call on all people of good conscience to join in disrupting the ceremonies. If Trump is to be inaugurated at all, let it happen behind closed doors, showing the true face of the security state Trump will preside over. It must be made clear to the whole world that the vast majority of people in the United States do not support his presidency or consent to his rule.

Trump stands for tyranny, greed, and misogyny. He is the champion of neo-nazis and white Nationalists, of the police who kill the Black, Brown and poor on a daily basis, of racist border agents and sadistic prison guards, of the FBI and NSA who tap your phone and read your email. He is the harbinger of even more climate catastrophe, deportation, discrimination, and endless war. He continues to deny the existence of climate change, in spite of all the evidence, putting the future of the whole human race at stake. The KKK, Vladimir Putin, Golden Dawn, and the Islamic State all cheered his victory. If we let his inauguration go unchallenged, we are opening the door to the future they envision.

Trump's success confirms the bankruptcy of representative democracy. Rather than using the democratic process as an alibi for inaction, we must show that no election could legitimize his agenda. Neither the Democrats nor any other political party or politician will save us—they just offer a weaker version of the same thing. If there is going to be positive change in this society, we have to make it ourselves, together, through direct action.

From day one, the Trump presidency will be a disaster. #DisruptJ20 will be the start of the resistance. We must take to the streets and protest, blockade, disrupt, intervene, sit in, walk out, rise up, and make more noise and good trouble than the establishment can bear. The parade must be stopped. We must delegitimize Trump and all he represents. It's time to defend ourselves, our loved ones, and the world that sustains us as if our lives depend on it—because they do.

Some have noted that 2017 will be the 100-year anniversary of the communist revolution in Russia, and many on the radical left are now openly using the word “revolution” to describe what they would like to see here in the United States.

And this call to protest Donald Trump's inauguration appears to have originated with a Marxist politician out in Seattle.

A self-avowed Marxist member of the Seattle City Council who is part of the George Soros-funded Occupy Wall Street movement has called for a "massive protest" against President-elect Donald Trump and a "nationwide shut down" on Inauguration Day.

Kshama Sawant went on an anti-Trump rant following the election that stirred up progressives' emotions against Trump voters, calling them part of "a racist agenda."

Sawant held a press conference calling for a mass protest in Seattle. That protest was attended by students, members of Seattle's LGBTQ community, as well as Occupy members and Muslims.

Many had been hoping that the nationwide protests against Donald Trump would be quieting down by now, but that does not appear to be happening. Instead, they just seem to keep getting more intense. Just check out what took place around the country on Saturday.

Seventy-one people were arrested in Portland, Oregon, where crowds threw burning road flares at officers.

Hundreds gathered outside City Hall in Los Angeles to face off against riot police after a daytime march with drew 8,000 people.

Other rallies took place in Atlanta, Salt Lake City, Washington DC, and Phoenix, as the anti-Trump backlash continued to grow.

In Indianapolis, crowds chanted 'kill the police' as they threw rocks at officers in a separate protest.

At other times, Barack Obama has stepped in and condemned protests when they have gotten violent.

So why is he just sitting back and saying nothing now?

As the president of the United States, shouldn't he be trying to calm everyone down?

It is easy to see how the #NotMyPresident movement could continue to grow and reach a crescendo on Jan. 20, 2017.

Normally Inauguration Day is a day of joy and gladness for the nation, but this time around, we may see unprecedented scenes of chaos, rioting and violence.

At this point, there appears to be no possible way that the entire nation is going to unite behind President Trump, and many are wondering if we are now entering four years of the worst civil unrest that the United States has ever experienced.
