

The Generosity Ladder

Nelson Searcy and Jennifer Dykes Henson | BakerBooks

When you think about your finances, do you get nervous? Does your heart race? Do your palms get sweaty? How about trading stress for security. You can live without debt, have a savings account, and you can have a solid plan for retirement. Plus, imagine having the finances to help others in need. This is how God intends for us to live. The first step in making this a reality is gaining a new perspective.

“Most of our money problems boil down to bad financial decisions,” Nelson Searcy and Jennifer Dykes Henson say, “financial decisions that are the result of distorted perspective of money. When we are able to open our minds to a new reality, we give ourselves the opportunity to experience life-changing, growth-spurring paradigm shifts.”

The Generosity Ladder is a guide that will give you new understanding about the truth about money. This tool will help you assess your financial health and discover how to save, spend and invest in a way that honors God and brings peace.
