The

Strange Man is the first act of an epic Christian horror trilogy that depicts a world where monsters are real, and simple men and women must overcome their doubts and fears in order to stand against the unspeakable creatures of the night.

Dras

Weldon is a 22-year-old unemployed washout. He lives to watch horror movies and read comic books; he's satisfied to hide in the shadow of adolescence. Under the watchful eye of his older brother, Jeff, a pastor, Dras professes Christianity but his life doesn't demonstrate his spirituality.

However, when a demon known only as "the Strange Man" comes to his small town of Greensboro and threatens his best friend, Rosalyn Myers, Dras discovers that only by putting his faith into action can he save his friend from danger.

Suddenly he is thrust into a race against the clock and forced to battle demonic forces in an effort to convince Rosalyn to accept Christ and turn away from the coming evil.
