

This Level of Evil Has Reached the Unconscionable

Read Time: 4 Minutes 12 Seconds

Baby bodies are being used to heat homes. This is an outrageous statement, and more so because it is true.

In Washington, D.C., evidence has surfaced that babies were killed after being born and then their bodies were burned to create electricity in the Baltimore area. This level of evil is unconscionable; however, it is just the tip of the iceberg of what my team uncovered. Similar newborn murders are happening across America!

Liberty Counsel is working with Congress to pass HR 26, the "Born-Alive Abortion Survivors Act." We had a major win this week when the House passed the bill. Now, the Senate will consider whether to make it illegal to kill a child that has been born alive.

It is mind bending that such an unthinkable act would even need to be forbidden by law, but the abortion lobby's death cult stubbornly clings to the "right" to commit infanticide – even as tiny baby bodies are being used to heat homes.

This is why we urgently need to pass the Born Alive Act to stop this evil. We need as many votes as possible, from both sides of the aisle, to pass this bill in the Senate. These children have waited far too long for justice. – Mat Staver

Curtis Bay Medical Waste Services, also called Curtis Bay Energy, Inc., "operates a unique waste-to-energy technology that utilizes medical waste for energy creation." This energy company was caught in Washington, D.C., picking up biohazard boxes marked with its own logo that were full of babies' bodies from an abortion clinic.

When a pro-life sidewalk counselor approached staff from the energy company, the counselor asked if she could give the babies a proper funeral and burial. She obtained one of the two boxes she saw with the Curtis Bay Energy logo and photographed it.

The box had the bodies of 115 babies in it, including five who, evidence shows, were born alive and at a stage at which they could have survived outside the womb, according to experts—had they been given the chance to live. Instead, they were left to die in a garbage heap, destined for energy-burning incinerators providing power to homes in the Washington, D.C., metropolitan area.

The suburbs of our nation's capital are now, literally, fueled by fires stoked with the bodies of murdered children. And the "fuel" is being provided by abortions in the District of Columbia.

Not even the Jezebellian worshippers of Molech and Baal could have dreamed of such evil. Yet, it is happening right now in our nation's capital.

This level of disregard for life is sickening. Meanwhile, the D.C. police and the FBI (Federal Bureau of Investigation) are working together to cover up for those accused of horrific crimes against born-alive children. I shudder to think how a God of justice will judge our nation. Yet today, we can make a life-or-death difference for these children.

In 2013, there were more than 1,200 babies who lived after an attempted abortion—and that number is certainly much higher because some babies born alive were then killed and not reported.

In addition, my team helped uncover that some abortion clinics had altered abortion procedures to give birth to children alive and so they could then harvest their organs intact to sell for "research."

As we have seen in our case defending Sandra Merritt, the brave grandmother-turned-undercover-journalist who exposed Planned Parenthood's evil "Baby Parts for Sale" scheme, such evil goes on every day, and the perpetrators are not punished.

Sandra's undercover videos revealed that Planned Parenthood doctors were purposefully altering abortion procedures to ensure babies were born alive, only to be butchered post-birth, and their tiny organs sold to the highest bidder—no better than sides of beef.

In one video, Dr. Deborah Nucatola, at the time medical director for Planned Parenthood, said, "So then ... you try to intentionally go above and below the thorax, so that, you know, we've been very good at getting heart, lung, liver, because we know that, so I'm not gonna crush that part, I'm going to basically crush below, I'm gonna crush above, and I'm gonna see if I can get it all intact.

"And with the calvarium [head], in general, some people will actually try to change the presentation so that it's not vertex, because when it's vertex presentation, you never have enough dilation at the beginning of the case, unless you have real, huge amount of dilation to deliver an intact calvarium.

"So if you do it starting from the breech presentation, there's dilation that happens as the case goes on, and often, the last, you can evacuate an intact calvarium at the end ... And we've been pretty successful with that. I'd say."

Such gruesome actions toward children are continuing every day. But thank God, we now have the opportunity to STOP infanticide.

The Senate has the power right now to stop this evil. I hope you will click the button below to send urgent faxes right now.

 Ruth Arick, owner of a Florida abortion clinic, said “some researchers are looking for whole fetuses ... so you over-dilate, you try to be able to extract an entire fetus through your cannula, but then again, the over-dilation can be a risk to the woman, so you know, it’s a game.

“If you’re looking for the organs, you’ve got to be able to do that, and separate them, and get ’em in the right kind of stuff, and then off they go,” Arick said.

Another researcher we brought to the stand in Sandra’s legal case was shocked when a baby’s beating heart arrived at the research lab. She testified under oath that the heart had to have been removed beating while the baby was alive. {eoa}
