

Tomorrow: Stand Up for President Trump in Second DC 'Million MAGA March'

Kylie Jane Kremer, founder of "Stop the Steal," is crisscrossing the country through the main battleground states along with MyPillow's Mike Lindell and a team from Florida. The bus trip culminates in Washington, D.C., on Saturday, Dec. 12, at 12 p.m. at Freedom Plaza directly across from the Trump Hotel with what is being billed as a second "Million MAGA March." Kremer and her team, committed to supporting Trump along with the integrity of the nation's election process, urge all interested believers to do whatever it takes to join them.

The Nov. 14 Million MAGA March, also held in Washington, D.C., had up to 1.5 million attendees in what very possibly was the largest rally in the city's history. The march was characterized by joy, laughter and the determination of "the forgotten men and forgotten women" who paid their own way, took time off work and came, most with family members in tow.

Live from the road, Kremer said, "We have been in 25 cities so far to enthusiastic crowds, all of whom strongly support the January's 20th's inauguration of our beloved President Donald J. Trump ... he has always had our back, and now we have his."

Appealing to believers, Kremer also put out a call to prayer: "I would ask all believers to pray for us, pray for the president, but also, to do whatever it takes to join us on Saturday at 12 p.m. at Freedom Plaza. We want to double the number who were here last month, and we are meeting two days before the electors vote on our president. Please join us."

Bestselling author of God, Trump and the 2020 Election Stephen Strang writes, "I believe Donald Trump must be reelected," joining with Kylie, Mike Lindell and the others working hard to mobilize as many as possible to have the back of the president at this critical hour.

Kremer says, "We've got to take to the streets and demand election integrity. If they can steal this election from President Trump, we'll never get our freedom back. ... We are encouraging people to caravan to freedom with us if they can. Join us in a city near you.”

Believers are asked to come to Washington, D.C., this Saturday at noon to stand up for Trump, who has done more for the cause of Christ than any president in history. Not only did he move the American Embassy to its rightful place in Jerusalem but he also restored the culture of life, appointed three Supreme Court Justice and nearly 300 judges, stood up for religious freedom and more. {eo}
