Prophetic Accountant Tells Sid Roth This Significant Cultural Event Will Signal Third Great Awakening

In December 2021, Myles Kilby, an accountant in Georgia, prophesied that Roe v. Wade would be overturned in 2022.

He claims that the Lord told him that 2022 would be a major year of turnaround for God's people and for the United States of America. Kilby references Job 42:10 (NKJV): "And the LORD restored Job's losses when he prayed for his friends. Indeed, the LORD gave Job twice as much as he had before."

"For the past five or six months, I've been preaching this and prophesying this publicly," Kilby said on a recent appearance on Sid Roth's show, It's Supernatural! "This is a divine turnaround year. ... God [is] going to completely overturn Roe v. Wade, and this would be the main sign that God would give that revival has arrived for the United States of America.

The Antichrist Agenda, Marvel and DC's War on God

Christian media company Good Fight Ministries has released the first installment of its seven-part Marvel & DC's War on God series.

Titled The Antichrist Agenda and narrated by Pastor Joe Schimmel, the company says the 150-minute film "documents how popular comics and the movies that they have spawned are riddled with anti-Christ themes that glorify gratuitous violence, sexual perversion, blasphemy, and the occult.”

“Many leading comic book writers have admitted that they are using seduction, manipulation, the occult and even the Bible to influence children to view the God of the Bible from a twisted slant,” Pastor Schimmel says.

Why Dog the Bounty Hunter Says Cancel Culture Is Losing Its Grip

Duane Chapman—better known as “Dog the Bounty Hunter,” the reality TV star whose criminal-hunting enterprise has become entertainment fodder—is optimistic about the future of cancel culture.

During a recent interview on The Prodigal Stories Podcast, Chapman said he believes cancel culture “is losing its grip” on society because people are disenchanted with it, choosing instead to looking past each other’s differences.

“The Bible says we’re all created equal, but we’re not all alike,” he explained. “You can take a guy, say from the Deep South that’s an alligator hunter, and tell that to a stock-broker guy in New York. And he’ll think that that stupid hillbilly is the dumbest man he ever met, and that alligator hunter will say, ‘Well, that sissy stock-market punk,’ right? When you put them together, and you find a subject that they both agree upon—I’ve done this—the New York guy said, ‘My God, what a friend.’ The Alabama guy said, ‘Man, them New Yorkers are OK. You know, they get it.’”

Why the Modern Church Has Lost Its Holy Spirit Fire—and How We Can Reignite It

Spiritually speaking, many of today’s ministers are playing marbles instead of preparing for war to reclaim all that’s been stolen and discarded from the body of Christ and even the nation. Too many are fighting internal wars and being totally sidetracked from the Father’s will and plan. Many would fare much better if they stayed in their own lane and fulfilled their own assignment instead of getting in someone else’s lane and trying to correct someone else’s assignment.

Still others are yawning at the Father’s will and intentions—passive and indifferent to the urgency of the hour, which calls for holy zeal and burning words that awaken the sleeper.

We are headed for a great event just ahead of us that will change everything in the church and the nation. No, it's not the rapture. Yet. But that's coming too! This is another understated theme that the Lord has highlighted to me. So many don't even preach on these themes or even believe them anymore. Too controversial, they say. What a lame excuse for failing to preach and teach on the blessed hope of the saints and to comfort one another in this world that is becoming more and more uncomfortable for the true God-seeker!
