

Trans-Species Joins LGBTs on Alternative Lifestyle Scene

Nano, a 20-year-old Norwegian, says, "I was born in the wrong species." Nano believes she is trapped in a human female body instead of a feline body.

A woman who hisses at dogs, claims her night vision and sense of smell is better because she is really a cat. She even meows in "cat language," The Daily Mail reports.

Sadly, such "lifestyle choices" are nothing more than disordered affections, in some cases mental disorders, which enable people to reject truth and condone wrong and delusional behavior, which both defy reality.