

'Trump 2024' Explores What Will Happen if President Isn't Reelected

Trump 2024, the upcoming film from Resurrection Pictures, began a Kickstarter campaign on June 22. The goal of the producers is to raise enough money to place the forthcoming motion picture in 1,500 theatres in key markets throughout the United States in September.

Trump 2024 assembles a "who's who" of Trump-affiliated evangelicals and other conservative commentators to reveal in their own words why they prefer President Trump.

Trump 2024 presents in detail the ideological battle that is being waged over the future of the United States. As Dennis Prager observes in the motion picture,

"The country was founded to be a republic—not a democracy. The left, in the words of Barack Obama, wants to fundamentally transform the United States of America. I don't. I want to improve the United States of America, but I don't want to fundamentally transform it because I love it. You can't love something you want to fundamentally transform."

Brigitte Gabriel expands upon this theme when she notes in Trump 2024:

"The fierce opposition to President Trump is because President Trump stopped the enemies of America in their tracks. And I'm not talking only about the enemies of the outside. I'm talking about the enemies of America from within. The radical left wants to transform the United States and change it and continue the vision of President Obama."

Trump 2024 demonstrates that the very soul of our country hangs in the balance and calls Christians to action to come against socialism and globalism as well as the undermining of the Constitution and the battle against religious freedom. As Former Governor Mike Huckabee notes in the motion picture:

“This great republic of ours was built on the notion of individual liberty, individual freedom, and that means individual responsibility. If we yield over and decide that America is not unique, that it’s not special, then we no longer are the United States of America. We’re just a piece of a bigger government.”

Trump 2024 features a who’s who of contributors [hyperlink again the Kickstarter], including: Gabriel, Charisma Media founder and CEO Stephen Strang, Mike Huckabee, Jack Graham, Mike Lindell, Dennis Prager, Eric Metaxas, Tony Perkins, Paula White, Sam Rodriguez, Star Parker and Lt. General Jerry Boykin.

Dr. William Harrity, the founder of Resurrection Pictures, says, “Donald Trump’s supporters, especially evangelicals, are tired of others pontificating about why we prefer Trump. They’re tired of bigoted activists blaming them for everything from the coronavirus to America’s long struggle with race. So we decided to create a motion picture to allow many of the leading voices of evangelicalism and conservatism in America to say in their own words why they overwhelmingly support President Trump and will continue to do so.”

To participate in the Kickstarter campaign, visit

To watch the trailer, learn more about the film, and get involved, go to . {eoa}