

Turn to the Liberator of Sin to Gain Freedom

In this episode of The Power of Intimacy With Christ on the Charisma Podcast Network, I share the origin of sin and how it affects us as human beings and our relationship with God. If you are struggling with being liberated from the sin nature, there is a resolution and a way out.

In this episode, I share the way out of the “I can’t help it” problem, as well as provide some good news about what is available for overcoming sin and its bondage. This episode is practical and reveals in real talk the problem of sin and how it has affected us and that it is absolutely possible to live a victorious life in Christ. However, we must understand the devastation resulting from a lifestyle of sin and learn to live free from it. You will take away some practices and spiritual processes for victory over the spiritual growth-stealing problem we know as sin as well as how to get free once and for all.

Jesus liberates from sin and gives us power to develop relationship with Him while He empowers the yielded heart to live in freedom from sin and thereby set free to live in full confidence in God. God intended for us to experience freedom from sin and to live in intimate relationship with Him, as He has already positioned us to reap the abundance that is available in Him.

An open and intentional effort to live free from sin leads to abundant life in Christ. You can live free from sin and experience liberty from those behaviors that rob your faith in God. Listen to The Power of Intimacy With Christ to tap into all that God has for you. And deepen your knowledge by checking out my article, “A Better Me in God”. {eoa}