

Two Tickets to the Christmas Ball

Donita K. Paul | WaterBrook Press

The owners of the Warner, Werner and Witzbotterdad's bookstore are matchmakers at heart, so they host an old-fashioned Christmas ball to bring together those they think would make perfect romantic pairs. These cupids particularly have their eyes on Cora Crowder and her co-worker Simon Derrick. Will Cora and Simon be able to see that their differing personalities can truly work together? Or will the matchmakers' best intentions ruin the happy holiday?