

Unwrapping His Presence

 Chris Maxwell | HigherLife Development Services

As Thanksgiving wraps up, people focus on the next holiday with renewed vigor. But in all the hustle and bustle that comes with this time of the year, it's important that we remember and reflect on what's really important about Christmas. Unwrapping His Presence will help you do just that.

Author Chris Maxwell, campus pastor of Emmanuel College in Franklin Springs, Ga., offers a collection of short stories, poems, artwork and articles about the true meaning of this holiday. With artwork by Brent Chitwood and stories from Mary DeMent, Maxwell reminds readers of Jesus, while also acknowledging that we face a lot of busyness and pressure during December. He also offers lessons to be learned during what is for some is not a season of joy and peace, but is filled with pain and sadness.
