

Vlad Savchuk: Don't Miss This Display of Holy Spirit's Power

As a deliverance minister, Vlad Savchuk has seen God do many great things. He's witnessed miracle healings, people delivered from demons and curses have been broken.

But each year, he brims with anticipation when the time rolls around for his annual Raised to Deliver Conference. Annually, God's wonder-working power is on display, and it brings a huge smile to Savchuk's face.

This year's conference is set for Nov. 3-5 at the Tri-Cities Convention Center in Kennewick, Washington.

The first Raised to Deliver Conference was held in 2015, and Satan has been disappointed ever since. Each year, the Holy Spirit crushes the enemy.

"We saw God marking these conferences with miracles and with the invasion of the kingdom," Savchuk says. "I can't tell you how many people have been delivered from demons. Curses have been broken. Parents who brought their children in who didn't believe in Jesus met Jesus after they encountered the power of God with healing and deliverance.

"So many people have received the baptism of the Holy Spirit at these Raised to Deliver Conferences. There have been pastors who have received equipping and just a spark to believe for the supernatural. You see young people with the hunger to rise up and for discipleship and deliverance to

It all began for Savchuk in 2006 when, as a youth pastor, he preached a sermon called “Raised to Deliver.”

“That message made an impact on our kids and myself,” Savchuk says. “It became the name and the theme of our conference, and wondrous things have been happening ever since.”

Savchuk remembers one particular Raised to Deliver Conference in which a young woman was brought in from a different state and was confined to a rented wheelchair. She had suffered an accident that rendered her paralyzed from the neck down.

At that conference, Savchuk says, Jesus touched her, she was healed and she is walking to this day.
