

WATCH: Glenn Close Shares Life Growing up in a Cult

Glenn Close, the 67-year-old, Oscar-nominated actress, grew up in a religious cult called the Moral Re-Armament. Find out what she is saying about it.

“I haven’t made a study of groups like these, but in order to have something like this coalesce, you have to have a leader,” she told ABC News. “You have to have a leader who has some sort of ability to bring people together, and that’s interesting to me because my memory of the man who founded it was this wizened old man with little glasses and a hooked nose, in a wheelchair.”

Watch the video for more on this story.