

Watch Live: Senate Resumes Health Care Debate

The U.S. Senate is resuming its health care debate—technically, it's debating the House's American Health Care Act—at approximately 10 a.m. EDT Thursday.

This promises to be yet another marathon session, with a multitude of amendments to be considered and voted upon. Senate Majority Leader Mitch McConnell, R-Ky., is also expected to unveil the so-called “skinny repeal” bill, which would effectively begin a piece-by-piece approach to a full repeal of Obamacare.
