

WATCH: Taylor Swift's Act of Kindness to Cancer Kid Will Bring You to Tears

An 11-year-old girl chose Taylor Swift's latest hit to fight her cancer-ridden "Bad Blood."

When Naomi Oakes was diagnosed with leukemia in June, her family created a viral video in an attempt to gain Swift's attention. Naomi was supposed to go to Swift's concert later this year, but her hospital stays prevent the little girl from having her fun.

In less than 48 hours, the pop superstar saw the video and donated a whopping $50,000 to Naomi's GoFundMe page ... and sent her fan a message.

Watch the video to see what she said.