

Watch the Viral Political Video That Will Make You Laugh—and Hard

After a group of Hollywood actors, led by stars of the “Marvel’s Avengers” film franchise, took the time out to make a video hyping the need to vote for Hillary Clinton, another political super PAC just wanted to say “thanks.”

The video, produced by the right-of-center K Street political consulting firm BrabenderCox, was created on behalf of a pro-Donald Trump super PAC. It features “D-list” actors portraying average Americans who sarcastically—as in the most passive-aggressive manner imaginable—thank those famous actors for telling them how important the 2016 election is for Americans.

Enjoy!
