

WATCH: This Nation Wasn't Built on Islam, Franklin Graham Says

Franklin Graham supports diversity, but not at the cost of turning the country toward Islamic principles.

In a recent interview, Graham addressed Duke's decision about hosting a Muslim call to prayer, as well as calling out the country for relegating Christianity to the "back of the room."

Watch the interview to see how Graham suggests we move toward diversity without sacrificing our faith.