

WATCH: West Point Graduates Show How They Really Feel About President Obama—and It's Not Warm and Fuzzy

When President Barack Obama delivered the commencement address to the graduates of West Point, their response revealed something startling.

Especially when it's compared to the response they gave former President George W. Bush.

Take a look.

//