

WATCH: Will the Latest Religious Challenge to Obamacare Work?

The case for religious freedom goes beyond practice and into actions, Hobby Lobby and other religious organizations claim.

It's why they are fighting the government tooth and nail to protect their right to not distribute contraceptives they consider abortifacients, such as the morning-after pill.

Watch the video to see the latest in the case and why the battle is not yet over.