

WATCH: Why Is A&E 'Bleeping' Out Robertson's Words on 'Duck Dynasty'?

The Duck Commander family is known for their conservative Christianity, so when A&E started "bleeping" out some words, it raised more than a few eyebrows.

There's no profanity in the show, however.

"They inserted bleeps like someone had used profanity, but no one had used profanity," Duck Dynasty patriarch Phil Robertson says. "So I'm thinking, 'a fake bleep,' and I asked, 'What's the point?' People thought there was profanity going on but there was zero. Why would you do that? If you want that just turn the station. If we're not using profanity, why make it look like that? So they quit doing that."

Watch the video to see more ways the Robertsons are standing up for righteousness.