

What Ben Carson Said on 'The View' Had Co-Hosts Pounding the Table

Republican candidate Ben Carson dropped an abortion bomb during his The View interview, shocking the co-hosts and audience members.

The retired neurosurgeon went head to head with Whoopi Goldberg about Planned Parenthood, as well as abortive mother statistics.

"In my case, I spent my entire career trying to preserve life and give people quality of life," Carson says. "There is no way you're going to convince me that they're not important, that they're just a mass of cells."

But it seems some women on the show took personal offense to his stance. Take a look.