

What Hillary Clinton Has to Fear From GOP Rivals

Republican Sen. Marco Rubio of Florida has the best chance to beat Democratic presidential front-runner Hillary Rodham Clinton in the 2016 general election, a poll revealed.

Rubio outpaces Clinton, a former Secretary of State and former U.S. Senator from New York, 50 percent to 42 percent.

Republicans Jeb Bush, Donald Trump, Ben Carson, Ted Cruz and Chris Christie all lead Clinton by at least three points (Christie) or as much as six points (Bush). Former Hewlett-Packard CEO Carly Fiorina ties with Clinton at 42 percent each.

Rubio, who's been gaining in recent days, was the only Republican to hit 50 percent in the Fox News survey. The news organization said the poll was "based on landline and cellphone interviews with 1,016 randomly chosen registered voters nationwide."