

What Living a Quality Christian Life Is All About

As a pastor for over 20 years, I hope I was able to help others understand through God's Word how they would be able to deal with the challenges of life.

Often, the greatest challenge for believers was to understand how to have peace. In addition, they desired to understand God's purpose for them. Many struggled with anxiety and fear when they faced difficult challenges. Because many Christians do not understand what a quality Christian life is all about, they live far below the level God planned for them.

The Word of God teaches us how to be overcomers, more than conquerors. It tells us we are to be influencers in this world.

When we understand that God is our source for peace, hope, joy, love, understanding and prosperity, we will be able to handle anything we will face. Christians can and must live a quality Holy Spirit-led life to be able to influence others to want the life they live.

Knowing that God is our source for any need we will ever experience is the key to living a quality Christian life.
{eoa}

Working in the areas of banking, teaching, pastoring and real estate development, David C. Friend has a unique platform to address the issues we all face. As a cancer survivor and Vietnam veteran, he explains how you can deal with the challenges in life. David brings a fresh approach to living life with purpose.

Read articles like this one and other Spirit-led content in our new platform, CHARISMA PLUS.