

What Planned Parenthood Doesn't Want You To Know

There is an old saying, "beware of Greeks bearing gifts" from the legend of "The Trojan Horse."

Today, we could substitute the name Planned Parenthood for the Greeks, because like the Greeks, Planned Parenthood is waging a war on the lives of mothers and our children; and like the Greeks, PPH wants to hide their secret agenda.

During her lifetime, PPH Founder Margaret Sanger was a popular eugenicist, promoter of the development of birth control pills and one of the founders of Planned Parenthood. This is what she had to say:

"While the colored Negroes have great respect for white doctors, they can get closer to their own members and more or less lay their cards on the table ... They do not do this with white people and if we can train the Negro doctor at the clinic, he can go among them with enthusiasm and ... knowledge, which ... will have far-reaching results among the colored people ... The minister's work is also important and he should be trained, perhaps by the Federation as to our ideals and the goal that we hope to reach. We do not want word to go out that we want to exterminate the Negro population, and the minister is the man who can straighten out that idea if it ever occurs to any of their more rebellious members." [Sanger] used Black doctors and church ministers to push her agenda to kill Black babies in the hood.

". DuBois of the NAACP helped encourage Sanger to take her agenda to Black leaders. At some point, she even tried to get help doing her dirty work to promote birth control in Harlem from Adam Clayton Powell Jr. and Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. A clinic was actually opened there, but eventually closed.

However, larger examples of those small black birth control clinics still exist today, like good ol' Planned Parenthood."

Uncle M. L. was targeted as one of the desired leaders to promote this horrible agenda. He was actually offered "The Maggie Award" in 1966. Thankfully, he never wrote the speech, never attended the ceremony; he likely didn't even draft the acknowledgement letter. His wife accepted the award. Mrs. Coretta Scott King was pro-choice, along with Mrs. Barbara Bush, and Mrs. Laura Bush. They all supported allowing women to abort their babies. Like Presidents George W. and Daddy Bush, MLK was pro-life. See MLK and Planned Parenthood: Part 1 and Part 2.

Warning: Birth Control Pills, Depo-Provera, and Norplant were all originally tested on people around the world in places like Brazil, India, Africa, Mexico and Puerto Rico before it even got here to the United States. When this scourge arrived here, it went straight to the minority communities where mostly Medicaid patients used the PPH clinics, local clinics and even school clinics.

So, in the manner of the ancient "Trojan Horse," PPH rolls into our communities, promising "safe, legal and rare" abortions, and leaving millions of dead babies, and often hurt, bleeding and dying disappointed mothers in the aftermath. This sounds like a war doesn't it?

[Isn't it also ironic that one of the most popular condoms is named "Trojan"? Condoms have been known to fail, leading women to pregnancy and abortion options.]

Troy and the other Greek city-states were pretty good friends. But times changed. They first became competitors, and finally enemies. Peaceful co-existence became unthinkable and impossible.

The opposing Greeks could not find a way in, and the Trojans did not seem able to drive the other Greeks away. Today, at first Planned Parenthood couldn't find a way into our communities to abort babies; yet the prolife community couldn't drive them away.

Odysseus, a Greek general, had an idea. His plan was to build a beautiful and huge wooden horse, and leave it outside the gate.[Sounds like PPH designer fortresses, doesn't it?] Then, the entire Greek army would pretend to leave, as if they had finally admitted defeat. But the horse would be hollow. Thirty soldiers would be hiding inside.

Same thing happened with "The Birth Control League, which later became Planned Parenthood. Founder Sanger publically denounced abortion during her lifetime, while supporting the KKK and "The Negro Project," an African American sterilization program.

After Sanger's death, Planned Parenthood was among the largest beneficiaries of the new "Roe v. Wade" abortion enabling law of 1973. PPH has gone on to become America's largest abortion provider, funded to the tune of over $500 million U.S. tax dollars annually. They also provide a lion's share of the over 55 million babies aborted here since 1973.

Long ago, while the Trojan people were sleeping, the men hiding inside the wooden horse climbed out and opened the gates. The waiting Greek army entered Troy. That was the end of Troy.

In the 20th century, while the churches and communities of America were sleeping, abortion crept in bearing gifts. The rest is history. Yet the clock is still ticking, and the tide is turning. It's time for us to look that gift horse in the mouth, and say "whoa" to abortion.
