

What You Must Do When You Receive a Prophetic Dream

Throughout Scripture, you see God speaking to His people in dreams. These dreams come in parabolic and mysterious ways so that God's people will be incited to seek Him for the interpretation of these nighttime messages.

The Lord loves to put hunger in the hearts of His children and to give us a reason to seek Him. When we receive a dream from the Lord, we need the help of the Holy Spirit to gain true understanding on what He's trying to say.

God is speaking in dreams to many of His people around the globe. Receiving dreams isn't the hard part; we all have wild dreams, and many people recognize when they have one that is significant in nature. The hard part is getting the proper and most accurate interpretation of the dream.

Often times, people just shelf the dream because they have no clue what it means, and they never truly seek God and ask Him. If they do, they may impatiently give Him a minute or two to express Himself and when He doesn't, they simply give up. It's imperative that we honor the Lord and show Him we value how He speaks to us and what He speaks to us by taking seriously these dreams by seeking Him for the true interpretation.

On the latest episode of Awaken Podcast, Michael Lombardo speaks with Candice Simmons about how she first encountered and how she began to grow in this dynamic gift from God. Candice has been in fulltime ministry with her husband, Brian, for 50 years now, and she often gets three to seven dreams a night with instant interpretations.

But Simmons didn't operate like this from the beginning. This is a gift she had to grow in, and on this episode of Awaken podcast titled Dreams and Interpretations, Candice shares her journey as well as crucial keys for every believer to begin the journey as well. {eo}
