

When a Satanist Meets Jesus: Rob Radosti's Story

According to a recent Pew Research study, 75% of Americans believe in one or more New Age doctrines. Pew Research states,

“Roughly three-quarters of U.S. adults in this category hold one or more New Age beliefs, including six-in-ten who believe spiritual energy can be located in physical things and 54% who believe in psychics.”

The rise of paganism is evident in the younger generations, many seeking powers through energies utilized through various channels. Yet many of those who practice New Age spirituality don't realize the darkness lurking behind the curtain, awaiting the perfect time to seize them.

I sat down with Rob Radosti, former Satanist and now Christian to get his story.