

When Your Healing Starts Small

God can and will heal you or your family member. Often, He will begin to heal you in small areas first, so if you recognize the tiniest of change, it's because He has started the healing process. Start to praise Him, thank Him and rejoice with Him. There might be the slightest of change, and when you see it, you would never have thought that could ever have happened. It might be coordination, thinking, connectivity, interaction, engagement; whatever it is, this is only happening because of the healing power of Jesus Christ.

In the faith you carry, start to praise Him and thank Him for all of these little changes, the initial healings. Then you'll find a second stage of healing will take place, so continue thanking and praising Him. Likewise, you will see more and more healings take place. It might take three months, six months, 12 months, 18 months or longer. The secret lies here: Start to thank Him for every healing, whether it seems small or big, until you receive the complete healing. Do not stop praising God. Put your faith in Him, according to Mark 10:52, giving thanks for the healing God has done so far. Praise God for every small thing, and praise Him in advance for what He will do. Once the healing starts to materialize, thank Him for the first phase. Then thank Him for the second phase, the third, fourth, fifth, sixth and so forth. It took me from June 7, 1982, right through June 7, 1983, before I felt something leave me, and I noticed a major change. That day, I remember, I was in my classroom with 42 other students, and I stood up and said to the teacher, "I'm OK! I'm OK! I'm OK!" She had no idea what I meant, and I was suspended for disrupting the class.

Life had changed for me forever. I no longer felt hunted; I became the hunter. God worked through my vulnerability, raising me to my place of authority in Christ. {eoa}
