

Whistleblower: Fox News Matching Donations to Satanic Temple

Fox News Channel is matching financial donations to the Satanic Temple behind the scenes, while pretending publicly to agree with the values and priorities of conservative Christians, according to a whistleblower who works at the beleaguered cable news network.

Glenn Beck's Blaze Media was the first media outlet to break this bombshell story on July 21.

The current Fox News employee spoke exclusively to Blaze Media, which is protecting the name of the whistleblower in a measure to prevent Fox News' retaliation for the truth coming out. Corroborated by journalists at Blaze Media, the allegation of financial support of the Satanic Temple shines a spotlight on the hypocrisy of Fox News Channel.

The Satanic Temple promotes "religious abortion rituals" as the "right" for women to kill their unborn babies. It gives satanic literature to children and performs "unbaptisms" in a blatant show of disdain for Christianity. The atheistic organization, dedicated to the devil, backs virtually all leftist (woke) social and political policies, including gender ideology-driven mutilations of children; critical race theory; and censorship of anything Christian or considered "traditional" from a Judeo-Christian perspective.

Satanic Temple Claims Members Are 'Immune' From Abortion Laws

However, Fox News approved the Satanic Temple on its list of charitable donations that meet the company's criteria. Other leftist organizations on Fox News' approved list are Planned Parenthood, the Southern Poverty Law Center and the Trevor Project. Not only has Planned Parenthood been responsible for the abortion of millions of unborn babies, but it also is one of the largest providers of cross-sex hormone therapy in America.

Fox News agrees to match donations to the Satanic Temple and Planned Parenthood, but it refuses to match donations to churches or any Christian organizations, according to the company's own policy that states Fox News will not match "donations made to organizations that are private and non-operating, or political, religious or fraternal in nature."

A former Fox producer told Blaze Media, "It became clear certain things weren't going to be tolerated on air any more after Tucker was gone. We were told: Lay off Dylan Mulvaney [the trans activist at the center of the Bud Light advertising debacle]. Once I realized we couldn't say certain things on air anymore, I started to dig more into the reality of the corporate views."

Fox News' bankrolling of anti-Christian groups "shows complete disregard and hatred for Fox's core audience, which is a huge part of the country," says the former producer. "They watch believing Fox is speaking for them, when in reality it's a company participating in certain things that don't match their audience's values."

This is not hearsay. The whistleblower, who still works at Fox News, showed a director at Blaze Media the company's internal portal and some of the donation matches in real-time. Blaze Media was able to verify that the screenshots were not photoshopped or manipulated. The verification of insider information proved that Fox News was intentional in being willing to match donations up to $1,000 each.

While Judas betrayed Jesus by selling Him out for 30 pieces of silver, Fox News appears to be betraying anyone who watches Fox News by selling them out with a $1,000 donation to the Satanic Temple and other anti-Christian organizations under satanic influence.

Rumblings of a call-to-action for Christians and conservatives to boycott Fox News permanently have begun on social media. The cable network already lost millions of viewers when it unceremoniously fired Tucker Carlson earlier this year.

Will Fox News lose millions of more viewers in light of this report of favoring the Satanic Temple?

Spirit-led discernment is needed more than ever amid corporate media bowing to the gods of wokeness, transgender extremism, abortion, anti-white racism, anti-Christian discrimination, revisionist history, pedophilia, open borders, environmental extremism, socialism and AI-driven transhumanism—everything the “worshippers” at the Satanic Temple love and glorify, allegedly with financial support of Fox News Channel. {eo}
