

Why Every Christian Needs to Invite the Holy Spirit Into Their Work

There is a great deal we do not, and will not, understand about our triune God until we go to heaven. For example, we don't really understand the Holy Spirit, but He's here with us. Dr. Jim Harris believes the Holy Spirit is the greatest partner in our work we could ever imagine, even if we do not understand how He works. He is our counselor, our paraclete (the helper), the spirit of truth and wisdom.

What would happen if we invited Him into our work every day? What if every time we walked into our office, we asked, "Holy Spirit, what do you want me to know as I begin work today?" What if today, we worked as if the living God and His wisdom were inside us? Here's how Dr. Harris invites us to let the world's greatest consultant, the Holy Spirit who lives inside us, lead us and guide us in our business.

Would we be doing different work, or doing it a different way? Would we think higher, grander thoughts? Would we expect and get bigger results? Would we over deliver for our clients? Would we take off the limiting thoughts that hinder how our work will turn out? Our God is so big, He spoke our universe into existence. So let's invite that God into our work and office every day, and expect God-sized results. {eo}
