

Will Ford: 'God Is Going to Use a United Church to Heal a Divided World'

God's heart is for all people to be treated equally. Regardless of our color, we are all created in the image and likeness of God Almighty.

I truly believe that the Lord's heart breaks over racial injustice and how His people have been treated over time by individuals controlled by the demonic powers to oppress and express hatred to minorities. In these trying times, hurt is bubbling up to the surface in America and is being demonstrated in both healthy and unhealthy ways. As believers, we must rise up and be the light in the world we are called to be.

Will Ford is a Black man whose ancestors were trapped in slavery. Michael Lombardo speaks with Will about the redemptive power of God over the years within his family line and the supernatural dots God connected between his oppressed ancestors and their slave owners.

Martin Luther King Jr, in his famous, "I Have a Dream" speech, declared that one day the sons of slaves and sons of slaveowners will break bread together at the same table. This vision is taking place in our generation, and Will Ford and his friend and fellow minister Matt Lockett are prophetic symbols of this.

Will Ford makes a power statement in this interview by saying, "God is going to use a united church to heal a divided world." If you want to find out more about Will's amazing story and how forgiveness is a vital key in becoming an agent of change in this cultural temperature of racial tension, make sure to tune into the latest episode of Awaken Podcast with Michael
