

Would Gun Control Have Prevented Jesus' Death?

Who knew Jesus' death and resurrection were such a hot Second Amendment topic?

Investigative author and activist Mark Dice, during his most recent "Man on the Street Monday" videos, asked passersby at a San Diego beach if gun control could've prevented the death of Jesus. The results were equal doses of humorous and terrifying.

Dice, who is better known for his research into satanic influences over government, the media and the entertainment industry, also asked those he interviewed if they could tell him when Jesus died. The entire video can be viewed below.