

Yes, Witches Are Casting Spells on the President Each Month

The magical resistance has not fizzled out, and many witches continue to employ demonic activity to harm U.S. President Donald Trump.

One, Amanda Yates Garcia, described what she does in an interview with Fox News' Tucker Carlson.

"Binding spells are symbolic actions used to harness the powers of the imagination and achieve an intangible result," Garcia says. "I desire that Trump stop harming people that I care about and instituting policies that also harm me."

Watch the video to see more.

Watch the latest video at .