

You Won't Believe What Bruce Jenner Told Ellen About Gay Marriage

Bruce "Call me Caitlyn" Jenner left Ellen DeGeneres speechless when the transgender celebrity talked about gay marriage.

Jenner is a proud Republican, and that includes supporting—or rather, not supporting—beliefs that violate the conservative agenda, such as same-sex marriage.

Jenner says he is a traditional person and has believed for a long time that marriage is between a man and a woman. However, he also says he doesn't want to stand in the way of someone's happiness.

But DeGeneres isn't going for it. The comedian says it appears Jenner is not totally on board with the gay-marriage band wagon. Take a look.
