

Emma Stark's Prophetic Warning: Is the End of the Megachurch Era on the Horizon?

Are we about to see the fall of megachurch popularity?

In a prophetic message shared on "The War Rooms Episode 19," Emma Stark issued a clear warning to the American Church, urging a move away from transactional faith to a more authentic relationship with God.

"The Lord will not come and sit in the midst of a people who don't know how to do authenticity and connection," she said, emphasizing the need for genuine intimacy in worship and community. "I do believe we're going to see megachurches start to be vacated and a whole different way of working together as the people of God if they won't change."
