Chris Tomlin is kicking off 2018 with a new single, "Resurrection Power"—and he believes it's timely. In a press release, Tomlin said, "I can't think of a better song at the start of the year than a song about new life, declaring, 'The old is gone, the new is here!' I believe this song is going to give so much hope to people as it presents the victory Christ offers us." Hear it first here.
