

For King & Country, Tori Kelly Release New Song 'Together'

Grammy Award-winning artist Tori Kelly, for King & Country and Kirk Franklin released a new song titled "Together" about the effects of COVID-19. The music video shows people holding up signs of things they've lost, from the death of a loved one to a canceled wedding. Then it shows people holding up signs of silver linings surrounding the disease: being reunited with family during quarantine, relaxing and starting a garden, to name a few. Some of the lyrics read:

"If you're looking for hope tonight/ If you're feeling alone tonight/ If you're in the fight of your life/ We're gonna make it ... If we fall, we will fall together/ When we rise, we will rise together."

For some encouragement during these trying times, watch the entire music video here.