

100-Year-Old Jewish Prophecy Predicts Solar Eclipse Portends Destruction of North Korea

An esoteric prophecy written over a century ago described the solar eclipse that will traverse the entire United States next week and predicted, in shocking detail, what the astronomical event portends for the outcome of the current North Korean-U.S. conflict.

The total solar eclipse's timing is meaningful, according to the Jewish calendar. Incredibly, it comes precisely at the beginning of a Hebrew month—Elul—singled out in a Jewish source as having significance for the specific political situation the US is facing today with Eastern aggressors.

“The prophecy states that when a solar eclipse occurs exactly as it will next week, in the beginning of the month of Elul, kings of the East will suffer great loss,” Rabbi Yosef Berger, the rabbi of King David's Tomb on Mount Zion, revealed of the century-old text Yalkut Moshe (“Collection of Moses”).
