

11-Year-Old Internet Sensation With Voice of an Angel Reveals Tragic Past

The Voice performances may have caused you to tear up a time or two, but this one will get you.

Eleven-year-old Mirna's audition for The Voice Kids has gone viral both for her talent and her backstory: ISIS vowed to kidnap and kill her, according to the Daily Mail.

"After we got to Lebanon, my dad told me that Daesh [ISIS] wanted to kidnap and kill me. From then I felt very scared at night, and I couldn't sleep alone, or be by myself," the young Christian said. "The Voice is a chance to sing for the world and to show that Iraq isn't just about war and things like that—there are beautiful sounds too."

Watch the video to see her powerful story.