

3 Highlights of the RFK Jr. Confirmation Hearing

As Robert F. Kennedy Jr.'s confirmation hearing to become the U.S. Health and Human Services Secretary began this morning, here are three highlights so far from today.

1. He talked about his committed prayer to God every day for the health of America's children.

During the confirmation hearing, RFK Jr. shared how becoming the U.S. Health Secretary would be part of a fulfillment of a 20-year-old prayer he has talked to God about repeatedly.

"The first thing I've done every morning for the past 20 years is to get on my knees and pray to God that He would put me in a position to end the chronic disease epidemic and to help America's children," says Kennedy. "That's why I'm so grateful to President Trump [for] the opportunity to sit before you today and seek your support in this endeavor."

2. Kennedy discussed the harmful effects of COVID vaccines and red dye.

When asked if he was a "conspiracy theorist," Kennedy used his stance on COVID vaccines and red dye to show that the American people did not receive all the proper information they should have about the products used that went into their bodies, something he desires to change.

"I was told that I was a conspiracy theorist," says Kennedy. "That label was applied to me because I said that the vaccines, the COVID vaccines, didn't prevent transmission, and it wouldn't prevent infection, when the government was telling people, Americans, that it would."

"I was called a conspiracy theorist because I said red dye caused cancer. And now, [the] FDA has acknowledged that," he continues.

3. Kennedy described "every abortion as a tragedy" to Congress.

"I agree with President Trump that every abortion is a tragedy," says Kennedy. "We cannot be a moral nation if we have 1.2 million abortions a year. I agree with him that the states should control abortion. President Trump has told me that he wants to end late term that he wants to end federal funding here or abroad."

RFK Jr on abortion:

"Every abortion is a tragedy."

"We cannot be a moral nation if we have 1.2 million abortions a year."

"President Trump has told me that he wants to end late-term abortions... and that he wants to end federal funding for abortions here and abroad."
