

77 Days to Take Back America: Igniting a Final Great Awakening

As we reached the closing day of our “40 Days to Save America” campaign, a journey of prayer, fasting and repentance, we find ourselves at the conclusion of the most pivotal election season in American history and the next phase: “77 Days to Take Back America: Igniting a Final Great Awakening.”

This campaign is more than a countdown to the presidential Inauguration on Jan. 20, 2025; it’s a call to action for believers across America to seek God’s will and to rekindle a spirit of unity, revival and restoration in our nation.

Amid the anticipated unrest, chaos and legal battles, let’s join together in continuing to pray, fast and repent, asking God to not only save America but ignite a great revival. We also need to pray for the protection of President Donald Trump and Vice President Kamala Harris.

The 77 days between Election Day and Inauguration Day represent a crucial period in our nation’s history. As I noted in my new book “The Trump Code,” in Scripture, the number 7 signifies completeness, divine purpose and covenant. By dedicating these “77 Days to Take Back America,” we are committing to a season of double completeness, embracing each day with intentional prayer, fasting and repentance, seeking to align America with God’s vision and purpose for our country.

This period is a unique opportunity to place our trust in God and act with bold faith, inviting believers from every corner of the nation and world to join in this journey of divine intercession.

A Call to the Church: Prayer and Action

On Sunday's episode of "Sunday Night Live," I joined my co-author of "Revelation 911," Pastor Paul Begley, along with "The Return" co-founder Rev. Kevin Jessip, Paul McGuire, Dr. Larry Keefauver and "Mike from Around the World" in a conversation about the role of faith in this critical election. These faith leaders, united by a commitment to revival, shared a call to action for the church to rise, vote and become a force for revival across America. Begley emphasized that this movement transcends politics; it is about rekindling America's Judeo-Christian foundations, standing firm as a light in a dark world.

A Movement of National Repentance

Jessip, co-founder of "The Return" with Rabbi Jonathan Cahn and a prominent voice for national repentance, underscored the need for America to return to God. This season of prayer and repentance, he explained, is critical for aligning our nation with God's will and purpose. Echoing 2 Chronicles 7:14, Jessip reminded us of God's promise to heal our land if we turn back to Him in humble repentance. He called on believers to embrace humility, repentance and faith as we strive to fulfill America's destiny as a nation under God.

McGuire, coauthor of our books "The Babylon Code" and "Trumpocalypse," highlighted the urgency of engaging in true spiritual warfare rather than merely playing church. He urged Christians to adopt a mindset of resilience, prayer and fasting, reminding us that our struggle is not against flesh and blood but against dark spiritual forces. He emphasized the importance of vigilance and discernment as well, calling on believers to stand against forces that seek to destroy America.

Jessip also addressed the importance of supporting Israel, a stance that resonated deeply with the panel. America's commitment to Israel is not only politically significant but spiritually crucial. Standing with Israel aligns us with God's promise to bless those who bless His chosen people, especially amid rising global hostilities. Our support and prayers for Israel reflect our solidarity with God's covenant.

Dr. Larry Keefauver, author of "Prayers of the Presidents," containing historical presidential prayers, emphasized the biblical mandate to pray for our leaders and seek divine wisdom. Reflecting on the words of President Abraham Lincoln, he warned of the danger of forgetting God amid our prosperity. Keefauver's prayer captured the gravity of this season, urging believers to remain united in faith despite growing divisions. His message was clear: As we uphold America's foundations of faith, we need God's protection and wisdom to navigate the turbulent times ahead.

Looking Ahead: A Time for Awakening

As we launch the "77 Days to Take Back America" campaign, we invite all believers to take part in a movement that transcends politics and aims to fulfill God's purpose for America. Begley, in discussions with "Mike from Around the World," delved into the prophetic implications of this season and how we can prepare for what lies ahead. Together, we can stand as a nation of faith, unity and purpose, and reclaim America's identity as a beacon of hope and freedom grounded in God's truth.

These 77 days are a time to stand firm in the supernatural power of the Holy Spirit and rekindle our commitment to God's vision for America. This journey isn't solely about who holds political office; it's about reclaiming the spirit and soul of America for God's glory.

The campaign will be highlighted in our newsletters—Revelation Watchers, Prophecy Investigators, Battle Ready News and Inspire Literary Group—featuring articles, videos and prayers that people can pray during the campaign.

Let us remember: America's greatness lies in its foundation of faith and unity under God. The time is now to rise with courage, humility and an unshakable trust in the Holy Spirit's power to bring forth a Great Awakening. With hearts united in faith and purpose, we can turn these 77 days into a transformative period of revival, bringing God's light to every corner of our nation.

As Begley reminded us, this isn't just about an election—it's about the church standing as a witness of God's truth. Join us as we pray, fast, repent and seek God's hand upon this nation, believing that He will lead us into a future filled with His promise and glory.
