

'7th Heaven' Darling Returns to Small Screen With New Reality Show

7th Heaven alumna Beverley Mitchell will return to the small screen with former child actors Jodie Sweetin and Christine Lakin.

Mitchell, who portrayed Camden daughter Lucy, will join the other women for a reality show Hollywood Darlings.

Full House's Sweetin and Step by Step's Lakin grew up in Hollywood with Mitchell, cementing a lifelong friendship.

"Anyone who was a TV fan in the '90s grew up with Jodie, Christine and Beverley—aspiring to be their best friends, wanting to dress like them and using their popular catchphrases," said Paul Adler, senior vice president of original programming and development at Pop, which will host the show. "Hollywood Darlings provides an amazing opportunity for viewers to reignite their fandom for this now grown-up trio whose lives are as entertaining as they are relatable."
