

83-Year-Old Morris Cerullo Wages Spiritual Attacks Against Forces of Darkness

He calls himself 83-years-young, and the description seems accurate for the evangelist.

Morris Cerullo just returned from his West African tour, refreshed with the Spirit of the Lord.

"We were victorious in waging a counter-attack against the darkness in spite of Ebola, Islamic terrorism and pockets of resistance," Cerullo says. "At 83-years-young and with 68 years of ministry, I still have an undying passion to deliver this world to the feet of Jesus."

Cerullo says he has a burden for the French-speaking Africans, and was excited to impart spiritual gifts in those he ministered to.

"Miracles abounded, nationals were trained, people were set free, and lives were transformed. This is our privilege to cover the world with the gospel of Jesus Christ," Cerullo says.

Cerullo says he has no plans of stopping soon, and will continue to serve until Christ returns.
