

Amanda Grace: A Warning for After the Inauguration

How should Christians be praying in the wake after the inauguration?

In a recent livestream, Amanda Grace shared a prophetic word she had from Jan. 2024, and how this should be heeded moving forward into our new presidential season.

In this word, Grace warns of a time of holiness and consecration that will be necessary for the church.

“This is a time of consecration for My people,” she prophesies. “A time of consecration for nations of the earth. A time of consecration for the church for the accursed things have come into the camp. Your own have brought such accursed things into the camp of the church and hid them away and it allowed turmoil and strife to percolate...”

Grace’s prophecy speaks not only to the church in this new season, but also to Congress, speaking of their need to be built completely on the firm foundation of Christ instead of the being platformed on sand.

“‘One nation under God must not be weakened in this time,’ says the Lord. For you may be free to commit idolatry in your land. However, you are not free to come in as a mutiny and tear down the very foundation and cornerstone of this nation,” says Grace.

It is also necessary in this warning to stay rooted in Christ not only for the members of Congress, but also for Trump. As many have seen and believe that Trump has been chosen by God, he must also serve God's will, or there will be major consequences.

"The incoming leadership will make an even greater mess than was seen four years ago if I the Lord am not welcomed into the cabinet and the walls of the White House and into the situation room," says Grace.

As of right now, Grace says it is "very easy for the serpent to slither in with smooth words, sooth-saying, and sounding like an answer when really it is a fatal strike."

Grace also predicts that the time of the blood moon in March will uncover plots against the nation and its leadership. This includes a potential danger to the president's family, especially for those living on the coasts of the U.S.

"...the time of Purim this shall be uncovered," Grace prophesies. "For it is marked by a blood moon this year for good reason," says the Lord.

This year, let's pray for the church, our government and for our nation, that we would truly go after the Lord and come out as triumphant over any of the enemy's schemes.
